

International Survey for Palliative Care Professionals

Are you a professional providing palliative care?
Your experience matters.

The EAPC task force on the role of palliative care professionals caring for patients and families seeking and accessing assisted dying are conducting an international study to better understand:

- Your experiences, roles and challenges related to caring for patients seeking or accessing assisted dying
- Your educational and training needs
- What resources could better support you in your clinical practice

Take the survey

The survey is anonymous and will take up to 20 minutes, depending on how much of your experience with assisted dying you are willing to share.

Thank you for contributing to international research on palliative care and assisted dying.

Who can participate?

All palliative care professionals worldwide, regardless of whether assisted dying is legal where you practice or how much experience you have.

Why participate?

Your insights will help develop:

- evidence-based educational resources
- practical training cases
- guidance to support palliative care professionals internationally

Role of palliative care professionals caring for patients and families seeking and accessing assisted dying